

RUFIOUS HUMMINGBIRD

Coloring Page

Rufous Hummingbirds are an orange color almost like a penny. They also have red throats and long straight bills. Their population has declined, but they are still common and wide-spread. They make their homes in mountain meadows and forests in the western part of North America. They like to feed on nectar and insects. They will visit hummingbird feeders in backyards. They are known for being very protective and will chase off other birds or animals. They lay about 2 eggs and make their nests very camouflaged up in trees. They migrate along the western part of North America sometimes reaching parts of Alaska and down to South America.
